

Elf Frank Myrrh: Greetings once again from the North Pole News Desk, I'm Elf Frank Myrrh of North Pole Radio News. Thanksgiving events for next week have been thrown into chaos as event planners are considering cancelling due to the weather and the crisis in Santa's workshop. Joining us from Flight Command again today is Director of Santa Trackers, Elf Crash Murphy, to discuss this. Crash, can you see them seriously cancelling Thanksgiving at the North Pole?

Elf Crash Murphy: There's no way that's happening, Frank. I'll just say it straight up.

Elf Frank: There's not? Why not? A lot of elves stepped away from the Halloween Party in the name of service in Santa's workshop. Why wouldn't they do the same for Thanksgiving?

Elf Crash: Because Thanksgiving is Santa's favorite holiday.

Elf Frank: You know what, Crash? I've been hearing that ever since I got to the North Pole but I've never really understood it. I mean, he's Santa. How can he like Thanksgiving more than Christmas?

Elf Crash: It's not that Santa likes Thanksgiving more. I just said it's Santa's favorite holiday. There are many reasons for that but none is bigger than the fact that it is actually a holiday for Santa Claus. After all, he works every Christmas.

Elf Frank: Ah....I see what you're saying. So it's not just about turkey and pumpkin pie for Santa?

Elf Crash: Not in the least, Frank, although I'm sure Santa loves those things too. Thanksgiving is a special day for Santa and Santa thinks it should be a special day for all elves and believers too. I would be shocked, frankly, if Santa bought in to cancelling any of it this year, no matter what the problems are at the North Pole.

Elf Frank: Okay, Crash, we'll just have to see if anything comes of this over the next few days. For now, let's go to Elf Westover with his report of what Santa trackers need know right.

Elf Westover: Trackers around the world! There are 34 days until Santa's launch. As we get closer to the end of November, Operation Merry Christmas will be in its delivery phase. Santa will return on the late night of November 26th to celebrate Thanksgiving. Please make sure to send in those reports as soon as you can. This is Elf Westover signing off, wishing you a Merry Christmas, and remember, stay jolly!

Elf Frank: Thanks for those reminders, Elf Westover. From the North Pole news desk, where our tracker reports are all caught up, I'm Elf Frank Myrrh reporting for SantaUpdate.com on the Kringle Radio Network.
