

Elf Frank Myrrh: Greetings once again from the North Pole News Desk, I'm Elf Frank Myrrh of North Pole Radio News. The big Thanksgiving Day Elf Parade will be held tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day, here at the North Pole. Joining us from the North Pole Events Center where parade floats are now coming together is an avid parade participant, Elf Crash Murphy. Crash, have you got Bubba there with you?

Elf Crash Murphy: I do, Frank, and Bubba barely passed inspection. My tires are all-weather rated but they want to put chains on Bubba tomorrow and they don't make chains big enough for these big old tires, Frank. I had to remind them that my trike is three-wheel drive.

Elf Frank: Does that really matter, Crash?

Elf Crash: It does to Elf Snedley, who is the head of the safety committee. He's a stickler, Frank. I had to put one of those big triangle reflectors on the back of Bubba and the float behind me doesn't even have headlights, Frank. It's ridiculous.

Elf Frank: Crash, are you asking tracker elves to participate in the parade this year, like you did for the Gobble Contest?

Elf Crash: No, but I would encourage all believers to do that. Decorate at home kids, and send us in pictures of your costumes and elf hats and decorated bikes and stuff. We think it can be a fun day for everyone.

Elf Frank: Okay, Crash, we will talk to you tomorrow from the parade itself. Joining us with what trackers need to know today is our friend, Elf Westover.

Elf Westover: Trackers around the world. There are 27 days until Santa's launch. In 2 days, Operation Merry Christmas will be in its delivery phase. Santa will return around midnight today for Thanksgiving. This is Elf Westover wishing you a Merry Christmas and remember, stay jolly!

Elf Frank: Great job, Elf Westover. For North Pole Radio News, where the snow cannot reach us during the parade here in the studio, I'm Elf Frank Myrrh reporting for SantaUpdate.com on the Kringle Radio Network.
