

Operation Merry Christmas Update

Elf Frank Myrrh: Hello again from the North Pole News Desk, I'm Elf Frank Myrrh of North Pole Radio News. A report from the accounting office at the North Pole shows that plans for Operation Merry Christmas are right on track and that Santa's Workshop is leading the way. Joining us from Flight Command with a report of his own readiness for Operation Merry Christmas is International Director of Santa Trackers, Elf Crash Murphy. Crash, it's a completely different story this year in Santa's workshop compared to what happened last year at this time.

Elf Crash Murphy: It's really true, Frank, but I would caution everybody just a little bit because the game is always won in the 4th quarter, and while it's been a good year overall the real story is going to come out in the next 130 days or so.

Elf Frank: What can believers do at this point in the year to help Santa and the North Pole to have a good 4th quarter then, Crash?

Elf Crash: Well, there are practical suggestions like getting your wish lists in to Santa and working on your cookie recipes, but I think the bigger thing right now is all about preparation mentally.

Elf Frank: And how can we all better prepare mentally?

Elf Crash: While we call Operation Merry Christmas just the mission that Santa serves it's really all about doing things for others, Frank. And if we begin with that in mind – that Christmas is about helping others, serving others, giving to others – well it puts us in the right place when it comes to everything we physically do in the run up to the season and how we ultimately celebrate it.

Elf Frank: Great reminder, Crash. We'll have a great 4th quarter by thinking of others here in the 3rd. Thanks for the update. From the North Pole news desk, I'm Elf Frank Myrrh reporting for SantaUpdate.com on the Kringle Radio Network.
